ISG Employee Earns CIC Insurance Designation

CAMBRIDGE, MD – July 5, 2006 – Scott J. Schleicher, Senior Vice President of ISG International, Inc. today announced that Comber McHugh has successfully completed the rigorous coursework to become a Certified Insurance Counselor (CIC) – one of the insurance industry’s most coveted designations.

The designation is sponsored by the National Alliance for Insurance Education and Research. The Certified Insurance Counselors (CIC) Program has been the insurance industry's premier, proven source for practical, real-world education since 1969.

There are five institutes – Personal Lines, Commercial Casualty, Commercial Property, Life & Health and Agency Management – each requiring twenty hours of instruction and the successful completion of an exam. The entire program must be completed within five years after passing the first CIC exam. Additionally, there are ongoing continuing education requirements to keep the designation throughout one’s insurance career. 92% of the insurance professionals who have earned the CIC designation have been in the industry for at least ten years.

Ms. McHugh is the Marketing & Sales Manager for ISG’s General Business Unit which serves the commercial insurance, employee benefits and personal insurance needs of successful businesses and professionals on the Delmarva Peninsula. She has been employed with ISG International since 2002. “This designation is among the pinnacle achievements that our industry offers” explains Schleicher. “Comber’s analytical approach to risk management, combined with her real-world business experience actually brings even more credibility to this honored designation.”
